

Tea time with a difference

THE tea shop is back.

And blooming tea with a flower that opens in the heat is just one of the goodies offered by Mandurah's "tea lady" with a difference.

Mother-of-five Kelee Zammit spent 18 months researching her tea shop concept and sourcing leaf teas from every major tea province in the world, including China, South Africa, India, Kenya and the Australian Daintree.

"You can go anywhere for a coffee, but you can't find just anywhere that specialises in tea," she said.

She counts Rooibos, a South African red bush tea, among her favourites.

She already has plans to expand her shop at Dolphin Quay to revive the traditional 'high tea' with small savoury bites and tiny sweet treats.

She will also showcase local talent with acoustic musicians, poetry and short story readings.

In the new tea shop are Jennifer Feeley and Kelee Zammit.
