WINDOWS of the Soul is a unique exhibition opening this weekend at Fusion Fine Arts by local artists Jean and June Pastore.

The exhibition created entirely in glass has also captured the interest of Foxtel's Gallery Watch program, which will be filming the opening night celebrations this Friday.

For art enthusiasts looking for something unique, this exhibition offers a sophisticated collection of glass paintings, ranging from intricate and elaborate cityscapes to colourful and contemporary abstracts.

Each piece of glass is individually cut, shaped and coloured, before findings its place in an inspirational creation – guaranteed to be a conversation piece.

Fusion Gallery owner Lisa Kelman said the artists had excelled in creating a luminous collection of glass art, which showcased their highly developed skills and techniques.

Visitors to the Gallery are continually amazed at the intricate and complex detail of the art glass pieces, with every cut of glass resembling a painted brush stroke – a technique developed by the Pastore sisters.

The Pastores emanate with their love for art.

They said each artwork was a metamorphosis of deep thoughts and dreams acquired through their life experiences.

An exhibition of opulence, colour and texture, Windows of the Soul continues until August 20.

Fusion Fine Arts is at Dolphin Quay, Mandurah Ocean Marina and is from Tuesday-Sunday from 10am-4pm.
