THE journey of life is Janey Emery's inspiration for her forthcoming art exhibition Pieces of Me, which starts tomorrow night at Fusion Fine Arts.

Emery brilliantly showcases her versatility as an artist, with exquisite paintings of landscapes, seascapes, nudes and portraits, all evoking the power of emotion.

Pieces of Me embraces the people, places and activities that surround everyone on a daily basis, which provide an endless source of inspiration for the renowned Perth artist.

Emery has once again captured the passion and soul of the human spirit on canvas, with a dramatic series of confronting new portraiture works.

Her sophisticated nudes are painted using extreme light and dark tonal values with semi abstract backgrounds and are a stunning portrayal of the female form.

Emery also showcases an elaborate series of land and seascapes, as she feels they invite the viewer into a peaceful place, with each piece having its own story of life's little journeys.

Pieces of Me succeeds Emery's popularity at Art Melbourne this year and is her much anticipated and only solo exhibition for 2007.

Emery is a favourite with Fusion clientele and Pieces of Me is the gallery's final solo exhibition for the year.

Arthur Marshall will officially launch the opening night celebrations tomorrow night, with the exhibition continuing until December 2 at the Mandurah Ocean Marina gallery.

Fusion Fine Arts is open from Tuesday-Sunday from 10am-4pm and is at Dolphin Quay, 4 Zephyr Mews, Mandurah Ocean Marina.
